Ordinance To Raise
4 Elective Officials'
Wages Is Introduced

An ordinance raising the salaries of four elective city officials, the mayor, auditor, solicitor and treasurer, was given a first reading by city council Tuesday night.

The proposed changes would become effective Jan. 1, 1944, since council has no authority to increase the wages of elective officials during their term of office.

Council heard a report from City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff that the War Production board had authorized the expenditure of $2,000 for the construction of a block-long storm water sewer improvement on S. Union ave.

Disclosure also was made of the state highway department's intention to black-top the Benton road (Route 14) northwest of Salem.

The salary ordinance introduced last night provides that:

The annual wage of the mayor be raised from $2,100 to $2,300; auditor, from $2,000 to $2,400; solicitor, from $1,800 to $2,000; treasurer, from $360 to $450.

Auditor's Work Praised
The auditor's salary was boosted from an original figure of $2,300 after council approved a motion by Members Arch Wentz and Charles Rheaun to set the figure a little higher in view of "the exceptional work performed by Auditor Karl Webster."

Concerning WPB's authorization to spend $2,000 on S. Union ave., Engineer Barkhoff explained that the proposed storm water sewer between Oak and E. Pershing streets would carry off surface water, part of which comes from Centennial park.

The proposed 15-inch sewer line would intercept the 30-inch line constructed near Pershing st. a year ago.

The solons adopted two resolutions.

One measure gave the city's official consent to the improvement which will extend 745 feet inside the corporation limits, while the other resolution absolved the state of any damages arising from the proposed improvement.

Councilman Fred A. Shaffer recommended that the highway department be asked to help in correcting a drainage condition along the road at the time the new surface is laid.

Axis Lose Six
Planes to Each
U.S. Ship Lost

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Axis is losing six planes for every American four-engine bomber shot down over Europe, the War department says, and this sign of intensified air combat placed new emphasis today on Prime Minister Churchill's remark that bombing Germany out of the war was well worth trying.

The stepped-up tempo of the Eighth U. S. Air Force, operating out of England—prompted the department yesterday to the unusual announcement of its accomplishments in recent weeks. It was the first statement of this kind issued by the War department since the United States entered the global conflict.

The statement disclosed:
1.—That U. S. air forces had made 18 heavy bombardment missions against targets within Germany itself, 11 of them since last May 14.

2.—U. S. planes based in England flew 1,600 sorties (a sortie is a flight by one plane) with four-engine bombers in daylight precision attacks on industrial centers, naval bases and war plants.

3.—The American bombers lost 108 planes in this all-out campaign but shot down 571 German craft, many of them no doubt fighters, probably destroyed 187 more, and damaged 231 in combat.

The War department listed these milestones in the career of the U. S. air command under Major General Ira C. Eaker:

Jan. 27—Attacks on Germany proper for the first time; hits on docks and naval base installations at Wilhelmshaven.

Feb. 4—Heavy damage to submarine base at Emden.

Feb. 26—Hits on entire target area of Wilhelmshaven.

March 4—Direct hits on rail yards at Hamm.

March 18—Severe damage to seven of 15 U-boat hulls on slips at Vegesack, only two escaping some sort of injury; powerhouse almost completely destroyed.

March 22—Destruction of quays, railways, docks and supply buildings at Wilhelmshaven.

April 17—Damage to Pocke-Wulf factory—output of the plant may have been completely stopped for a period.

May 14-19—Damage widespread at Kiel, the great naval base.

Knights of Columbus
Name Whiteleather

Ralph Whiteleather was elected grand knight of Salem council No. 1818, Knights of Columbus, at a dinner meeting last night, succeeding Edward Scullion.

Other officers are: Deputy grand knight, Edwin Probert; chancellor, Frank Pink; warden, John Enrick; recording secretary, James Pettis; advocate, Edward Scullion; treasurer, Donald Scullion; outside guard, Charles Malloy; inside guard, Terrence Steffel; trustee (three years), Robert Tubbs.

Other trustees are William Lipert and Robert Bloor.

Plans for a picnic at Centennial park June 24 will be completed at a meeting Friday evening.

A number of the Salem knights plan to attend a northeastern Ohio district meeting Sunday in Cuyahoga Falls where major degrees will be exemplified.

LA GUARDIA
PROBE ASKEDN. Y. City Council Votes
Sweeping Investigation
Of All Departments

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 16.—In an unprecedented early morning meeting, the New York city council today voted a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation of the affairs of all city departments under Mayor F. H. La Guardia.

The resolution, passed by a vote of 18 to 5 with one councilman not voting, provides for a committee of seven council members with powers to investigate "any matters relating to the property, affairs or government of the city or of the county within the city."

The vote was taken after the Democratic majority overruled city Council President Newbold Morris' ruling that the meeting, which started at 12:01 a. m., was illegal.

Morris engaged in a bitter exchange with Councilman Walter R. Hart, Brooklyn Democrat, who sponsored the measure, and the council, by an 18 to 4 vote, censured Morris.

Hart was mentioned in charges recently made by Commissioner of Investigations William B. Herlands which brought about trial of former Deputy Comptroller Milton Solomon, accused of attempting to obtain an $8,000 fee from a stirrup pump dealer with a promise to influence city council legislation.

Solomon was acquitted of the charges.

Hart indicated that inquiry would be made into the department of sanitation, budget funds of some city departments and the allocation of budget funds to the police department.

During the council meeting, one of the stormiest ever held here, Hart said he was convinced that "there is more to be investigated in this administration than there was in Tammany hall" and added, "I am sure we will show it."

The La Guardia regime was denounced by Council President Morris, who declared, "this administration is so clean that no politician can besmirch it. Nobody accuses this administration of dishonesty or immorality."

Extension Service To Help
Farmers Meet '43 Food Goals;
Enlist Workers Here Friday

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 16.—Its resources bolstered by $190,000 from Uncle Sam, the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service is pursuing a major wartime job—to help farmers meet 1943 victory food goals.

This sum represents Ohio's initial share of a $26,100,000 federal appropriation to finance broadened farm labor programs of agricultural workers.

The secretary of agriculture designated state extension services and state and county agricultural war boards as agencies responsible for the recruitment, placement, transfer and utilization of agricultural workers.

Under the same directive, county war boards were named intermediaries between local selective service boards and registrants deferred as essential farm workers.

"The whole program is keyed to attain peak farm production," said H. C. Ramsower, director of the Ohio extension service and state administrator of the new farm labor fund. "This money is earmarked for setting up administrative machinery so the service through its county agents can fill emergency farm labor demands."

Ramsower named Guy Dowdy state supervisor of emergency farm labor.

In most counties an emergency farm labor assistant will help the agent, Ramsower said, reporting that the program is operating in about 80 of Ohio's 88 counties.

By obtaining replacements where possible the county agent and the county war board of which he is an ex-officio member expedite the flow of deferred farm registrants to the armed services.

Under draft regulations the farm worker-registrant is granted deferment unless dependency factors enter only while he is necessary. If farm labor authorities are able to replace him satisfactorily his local draft board shall terminate the deferment.

Soldier Will Receive
Posthumous Award

COLUMBUS, June 16.—A citation from Gen. Douglas MacArthur for "extreme heroism in action near Buna, New Guinea, Dec. 16, 1942" will be awarded posthumously to Corp. Daniel F. Rine, Ohio soldier who died in action in the Pacific war theater.

Corp. Rine's sister, Mrs. Rose Sarge of Wellsville, O., will receive the award at Fort Hayes Friday.

Rine's citation said he led an attack on a strongly fortified machine gun emplacement and when the emplacement slowed the advance, he went forward and tossed hand grenades into the position.

REPORT SHOWS
BONDED DEBT

Total For County and Villages $1,064,426; Salem Figure $178,350

(By Associated Press)

LISBON, June 16.—County Auditor I. J. Vornrdan today filed with the auditor of state a report of the bonded indebtedness of all taxing districts of Columbiana county exclusive of the cities, for the 12-month period ended Dec. 31, 1942, amounting to $1,064,426.10.

The sum is a decrease of $190,032.79 from the previous year with $726,638 of the total being the indebtedness of the city, village and rural school districts.

The report shows the county debt has been reduced from $232,950 to $137,800; village indebtedness from $295,296.54 to $198,006.83; township debt from $4,801.58 to $1,981; city schools from $457,250 to $405,250, and other school districts from $355,060.77 to $321,388.27.

The county's bonded indebtedness is largely poor relief, with $47,800 remaining to be paid from excise taxes on one issue, while $86,000 remains to be paid on bonds issued against the delinquent tax collection.

The former will be paid off in 1944, while the latter is due in 1945. A balance of $4,000 is also outstanding against bonds issued for the remodeling of the courthouse, which also falls due in 1944.

East Liverpool's bonded indebtedness was reduced last year from $84,661.10 to $62,814.97, and includes a general debt balance of $34,134.97, and a public utility debt of $180,000, and special assessments of $51,660.

The former will be paid off in 1944, while the latter is due in 1945. A balance of $4,000 is also outstanding against bonds issued for the remodeling of the courthouse, which also falls due in 1944.

Salem city's debt on Jan. 1, 1943, amounted to $178,350, a decrease from the previous year when there was $215,000 outstanding, including a $76,000 sewage disposal issue, which expires in 1948, and a refunding bond of $139,000 which becomes due in 1950. A balance of $110,000 remains on the latter while $66,000 is unpaid on the former.

Wellsville, with two new issues during the year, has an outstanding bonded indebtedness of $143,232 as compared with $150,000 the previous year. The new issues included $4,500 for a new water system and $5,500 in refunding bonds.

The bonded indebtedness of other corporations in the county are as follows:

East Palestine, $65,000, with sewage disposal and the city swimming pool accounting for $35,000; Lisbon, $76,500, of which $48,000 is in water works bonds and $28,500 in special assessments; Columbiana, $40,476.83; Sallenville, $17,080 and Leontina, $12,000.

Pre-Zero Hour
Of Invasion
May Be Near

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

King George VI has arrived secretly in North Africa on what may be a final "pre-zero hour" visit to the British and American armies girding for an invasion of southern Europe.

While Axis invasion alarms rang with peak intensity up and down the Mediterranean, ranging from Gibraltar to the Turkish-Syrian frontier, Allied headquarters announced that the king had already inspected his victorious armed forces in the field and bestowed on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the insignia of Knight of the Grand Cross, Order of the Bath.

It was the monarch's first trip to an active war theater since he visited the British army in France early in 1940, a few months before Adolf Hitler's armies swept into France and the low countries on the march that led to Dunkerque.

Today the situation was reversed, with the Axis nervously awaiting the next Allied blow.

Enemy broadcasts variously reported that a great Allied invasion fleet was massing in the western half of the Mediterranean, that the United Nations had built up an "invasion army" in Syria, and that Britain was "trying to bring Turkey in on her side but the Turk will not be pressed."

Dispatches from La Linea, Spain, said another big Allied convoy had entered Gibraltar harbor, and an Italian communiqué reported that Axis planes were attacking Allied ships off the Algerian coast and landing boats off Pantelleria.

Other events at-a-glance:
Western Air War—RAF night raiders blast Nazi targets from Denmark to Britain; German report Allied bombers also near Berlin.

Russia—Leningrad broadcast declares Red armies set to hit Germany a "mighty crushing blow" from the east, synchronized with Allied invasion of Europe; Soviet troops again beat off strong Nazi assaults in East Prussia.

Japan—Premier Tojo warns big British-American offensive is near, says war situation becoming "increasingly tense."

Southwest Pacific—Gen. MacArthur's bombers drop 23 more tons of explosives on Japanese airdromes at Rabaul, New Britain; hint Rabaul may be next major Allied objective; Allied troops thrust to area 90 miles northwest of Lae, New Guinea.

Burma—Allied warplanes hammer five Japanese bases, blast enemy from Arakan front to Mandalay.

China—Chinese troops press offensive on upper Yangtze river, disrupt rail communications to Japanese base at Yochow.

In the Mediterranean, the pulverizing assault on Italy's anti-invasion stronghold of Sicily continued in force yesterday as waves of U. S. Flying Fortresses, Mitchells and Marauders, escorted by fighters, battered the Axis airdromes at Rocca di Palco, Castelvetrano, Selasca and Borizzo. Allied fighter planes shot up targets at Marsala.

Italian headquarters reported that the raiders also attacked localities near Palermo and Trapani and in Arigento province, Sicily.

Inboard motor boats are limited to a supply of 125 gallons for 90 days, while outboards are allotted only 20 gallons for the same period.

The manager of one Cleveland boat supply concern estimated smaller inboards could get from six to nine miles per gallon while outboards could get from 10 to 18, depending on the size and equipment.

On this basis, inboards might make trips of 750 to 1,100 miles a season while outboards might consume their supply in four or five days. If operators use boats to fish for fun, they get no increase in allowances. If they fish for food, they may apply for larger rations.

CHANGES PLANNED IN RURAL ROUTES

A re-vamping of four of Salem's five rural mail routes will become effective July 1.

Three and one-half miles of territory is being removed from Route 1, which is the largest of the five routes, and transferred to Route 4. About three miles is being taken from Route 2 and transferred to Route 3. Seventy box patrons between Salem and Winona, which for many years have been served by the Star Route carrier, will be transferred to Route 2.

Postmaster A. E. Beardmore said a total of 340 box patrons are involved in the changes of the four routes, with only about 20 required to move their mail boxes from one side of road to the other.

Two Children Drowned
COLUMBUS, June 16.—Two children drowned while playing in water in the Columbus territory yesterday. Phillip L. Mustain, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mustain, lost his life in Big Walnut creek near Groveport. Robert Collins drowned in a Columbus stone quarry pool.

Registrations may be made by calling 4500 from 1 to 9 p. m. any day this week. After donor chairman have taken the name and address of the donor, an appointment is arranged and the donor is notified by mail. The donation center will be in the Presbyterian church.

Transportation is provided for anyone desiring to give blood who is unable to get to and from the donation center.

More than 100 new donors will be needed, as well as the 300 persons who have given previously.

THE LIMITED RIGHT TO STRIKE

The Connally-Smith bill, which reflects public opinion against further abuses in wartime of the right to strike, is being assailed bitterly by spokesmen for organized labor. Yet, to a considerable degree, the proposal, now awaiting executive signature to become law, is the product of their own leadership.

These spokesmen created abundant goodwill for the labor movement when they pledged themselves against striking in wartime. They progressively frittered away that goodwill until congress, which previously had no intention of making any of their activities illegal, decided the time was ripe for legislative action.

The right to engage in collective bargaining and the right to strike are well established in the United States; they are not, however, so well established that they must be permitted to interfere with the successful prosecution of war. In that respect, they are subject to the same limitations that are imposed on rights in general. Congress has been forced to do something to relieve a situation that has done more to hurt morale than any single problem created by war conditions.

The Connally-Smith bill actually is far less stringent than many labor leaders feared it might be; it cannot be called reactionary. In fact, the bill as finally passed represents a compromise between the views of those who favored something more drastic and those who favored a position so mild and innocuous that it represented a policy of coddling. It would have been infinitely better if no legislative action had been called for by such dangerous procedures as the continued threat of production stoppages in the coal industry, even after it had been taken over by the government, but the fact is the legislative action was called for and finally taken.

THE FUTURE IS TOMORROW

In Donald M. Nelson's formal report on war production for this year and last, he speculates that the 1942 war production performance may be called a "miraculous achievement" by historians. But along with the miraculous aspects were some others that Mr. Nelson didn't like.

He speaks of the slowness with which some objectives were developed, failure to develop promptly the light and well coordinated controls over resources that obviously were going to be needed, "the somewhat chaotic and prodigal way in which the programs (of production) were translated into specific assignments to the industrial system"—all emphasizing the vital importance of looking ahead and planning the use of resources in peacetime.

The best possible answer to those who object to post-war planning, and some of the objectors seem to feel that the whole business is just a field day for half-baked theorists, is the experience which the United States has had with insufficient planning for the great emergency of war. The planning that was done—and objections sometimes were raised against it too—didn't begin to be enough.

The United States is winning victory at a terrible cost because too many things had to be done the most expensive way, instead of the least expensive way. If it drifted into peace, as it did in 1918, without having foreseen the necessities and possibilities, chaos and prodigality again would be the rule—and the United States cannot afford it.

BOMBER-FIGHTERS

Loss of 26 heavy United States bombers in one raid as the result of strong German fighter resistance may mark a more decisive turn in the war over Europe than is being acknowledged in official accounts of this new record of losses.

The Germans are concentrating on aerial resistance to American daylight bombing tactics. They have available for this purpose excellent pursuit planes; obviously, the intention is to turn back United States daylight bombers as successfully as the British turned back German daylight bombers in 1940.

Descriptions of the actions speak, however, of heavy losses of German pursuit planes. This is in accordance with the tactical theory that the bombers can defend themselves successfully in large formations, to the point where the Germans ultimately will be unable to send up enough fighter resistance to give them a battle, with results that already have been demonstrated in the Mediterranean theater.

Bomber-fighters are this country's most distinctive contribution to the new aerial warfare that has been conducted so successfully recently that it is being mentioned again as the means of winning the war more quickly than anyone dared hope for as recently as a year ago.

IS MR. ROOSEVELT TO BE UNIQUE?

The careful maneuvering which preceded introduction in the senate of a proposed constitutional amendment restricting future chief executives of the United States to eight years and the shrewd handling of the proposal from this point forward will have no bearing on one effect of this move—perhaps an accidental effect.

If the amendment were submitted to the states and adopted, the effect would be to make President Roosevelt unique. He would become then the only chief executive ever to win such high regard from his countrymen that he was rewarded with more than eight years in the presidency. Whereas his predecessors were barred only by a tradition from serving more than eight years, his successors would be barred by constitutional law.

While this might seem to be a reflection on public reaction to the breaking of the tradition, the actual appearance probably would be the opposite. Mr. Roosevelt would be recorded in history as the first and last man to become so indispensable that his countrymen insisted on prolonging his stay in the presidency past eight years.

Since politics decrees that the amendment should place no restriction on the incumbent of the office at the time of its adoption and Mr. Roosevelt might then be serving the fourth term he is known to be seeking, it would be better to forget it now. There may be greater emergencies in the future that will make equally great chief executives feel called upon to serve more than eight years, too.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, June 17

ANOTHER day of excitement, accomplishment and happiness, although there may be depression and separation. It may take form in depleted physical condition, or concern about elders or perhaps employment. All associations, both business and private may be expected to move at high tempo, with all the energies and faculties greatly stimulated for decisive action and constructive accomplishment. There is possibility of marriage, or engagements, under an acutely heightened magnetism.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a highly exciting and stimulating year, with all the forces and faculties geared to high accomplishment and keen pleasure, as well. All affairs may move under high tension, even though there may be delays and obstacles. All worry and sadness may be obliterated by the outstanding joy of courtship and marriage.

A child born on this day may have great energy, magnetism, and acute faculties and constructive ability, and should shine in a glamorous career although it may have its depressing or anxious moments.

American astronomers who have found a new double star had better hurry and name it before Hitler's astrologers list it as a Nordic double feature.

Some Washington experts predict that the 1944 food supply will be low, but the country will not get excited until another faction of experts has reported.

Now that the temperature is soaring high, it is time to write all about how to keep cool in hot weather. None of the advice we've ever tried has done us any good.

Here is a news item that says: "Twenty-six Kentuckians were indicted on election fraud charges." They probably counted too much on Freedom from Fear.

Those Japs who blew themselves up with their own hand grenades probably had been instructed to see that the Americans captured no grenades.

ANALYZING GASTRIC JUICES

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THIS WEEK we have been discussing the value of the examination of the blood to the doctor who is making a diagnosis of his patient and have tried to tell something about the procedure he goes through in order to examine the blood. Today I wish to take up other laboratory methods of examination of different fluids of the body.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The medical profession and physiologists have been very ingenious in submitting every secretion, fluid and excretion of the body to examination in health and disease. One of the first of the body secretions to be examined was the gastric juice—the secretion of the walls of the stomach during the process of digestion.

Attempts were made to obtain this as far back as the 18th Century when an ambitious German physician invented a kind of brush on the end of a long wire, which he poked down his patient's gullet and mopped up the inside of the stomach, very much like one of the instruments used to clean kitchen pans and bottles.

Beginning of Gastric Analysis

This method was not very satisfactory and the real beginning of gastric analysis was when a Dr. Kussmaul had a patient in the ward who was called Dr. Weiner (The Whiner). The poor thing whined all the time and for good reason, because she had an obstruction in her stomach and secretions dammed back and kept her bloated. Dr. Kussmaul conceived the idea of putting a tube down and washing out her stomach, which gave her great relief. Remember, this was only a short time ago as 1870. With this Kussmaul tube the stomach specialists were able to remove stomach contents and make a chemical and microscopic examination of them.

At rest the stomach is quite empty of all secretions and presents a dry and glistening surface. But almost immediately after the intake of food, secretion begins and within an hour it is almost at its height.

In the early period of analysis of the stomach contents, the juice was removed an hour after a small meal and many profound conclusions were adduced on the basis of this examination. In fact, before the x-ray began to be used to visualize the stomach, the analysis of the gastric juice was about the only stock in trade of the stomach specialist.

The specialty thrived in those early days. In fact, as I remember it, practically every other doctor on the North Side of Chicago was a stomach specialist when I spent my internship there. But in the course of time the general practitioners and general surgeons found out there wasn't very much value in the examination of the stomach contents.

Examination Not Valuable
The stomach specialists were prone to say that when a person had a great deal of acid in his stomach contents, that meant he had ulcer and that when he had no acid at all, that meant he had cancer. But the surgeons soon found that sometimes there were cases of cancer of the stomach with plenty of acid and cases of ulcer with no acid at all and dependence

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

These two important steps may help you overcome the discomfort or embarrassment of sour stomach, jerky nerves, loss of appetite, underweight, digestive complaints, weakness!

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. So with ample stomach digestive juices PLUS rich, red-blood you should enjoy the same vigor, energy, which denotes physical fitness... mental alertness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach and to build-up blood strength when deficient.

Food Preservation
Week Is Observed

Columbiana county's Food Preservation week begins June 23 through July 2 when meetings on food preservation, including both canning and drying, will be held in rural and urban areas.

Homemakers probably will be doing a record-breaking job of canning this summer so their family will be assured of having enough of the proper foods during the winter months.

Various nutritional agencies in Columbiana county are helping to sponsor a county-wide food preservation program during which the problems of home canning and drying will be discussed and demonstrated. Training meetings will be held for rural leaders during the week of June 21, with local meetings being set up during the following week.

In addition to demonstrations being planned, a sound movie entitled, "You Can, Too!" has been secured. Dates and places already scheduled for this film are: July 9, Milebranch grange hall, and July 14, Mt. Nebo grange hall. Other groups may have the opportunity of seeing this film by getting in contact with Miss Erma Ramsayer at Lisbon.

Theatre

Hilo Hattie and Leon Errol have the leading comedy roles in the musical film, "Follow the Band," which is showing at the State for the last time tonight.

"The Hard Way," starring Ida Lupino, Dennis Morgan and Joan Leslie, will be at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The story deals with the life of Helen Chernen, portrayed by Ida Lupino, a woman who is forced by unfortunate circumstances to remain in a grimy, sordid town where everything is touched with the gray dust of the coal mines. Disgusted and embittered with her miserable lot, she is determined that her lovely young sister, Joan Leslie, shall fare better.

A double feature, "The Clancy St. Boys" and "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground" is scheduled at the Grand tonight. An added attraction, "Prelude to War" also will be featured.

The weird story of a scientist whose secret experiments result in his own transformation to an ape man is the basis of Bela Lugosi's exciting horror film, "The Ape Man," at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday, along with "False Faces."

THAT MAN IS MINE by May Christie

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Jim seated himself. Vince's chair, next to Ann. Other members of the party were at the table. Ann said: "I want to give you your winnings." She opened her bag, dumping all its contents on the table, including the chips, a small mirror, a lipstick, a handkerchief, and a flat gold vanity-case, with Ann written in small diamonds across it.

"Here's your chips," she said, sorting out the pile. He felt embarrassed, as she thrust them at him.

A woman leaned across the table to look at the vanity-case. She purred: "Isn't that Vince Ogden's handwriting?"

"He always says it in diamonds!" giggled another woman.

Ann made no reply. She rose, turning to Jim. Unconsciously she used Mrs. Willard's very words: "It's stifling in here!" — but instead of inviting him to dance, as the other had, she suggested they go out in the casino garden.

She felt she must be alone with him, away from these people, to explain the roulette incident.

"Remember Eve!" one of the party yelled.

She felt cheapened. And as she caught sight of herself in the bar-mirror, she wished she hadn't had those cocktails.

The night air was fragrant and cool. A breeze, like a refreshing, steady hand, touched her flushed face.

Jim was wondering if it were a "gesture" that she had given him back his $350 worth of chips: Was she expecting that he would be her banker when they returned to the gambling tables? It was odd that she hadn't wanted to go there now, but suggested going into the garden!

The garden was quite lovely, filled with tropical and sub-tropical flowers. Its walls were covered with trailing bougainvillea and wignonia. There was a small pool covered with wild hyacinth and lily pads. In one carefully tended section, roses were blooming, though they didn't have much perfume. But the night-blooming jasmine and the trumpet vine with its big yellow flowers overpowered everything in fragrance.

There was a small stone bench by the lily pool, under a spreading banyan tree. "Let's go down there," Ann suggested. She wanted to be as far from the noisy casino, and what had happened this night in it, as possible. Besides, one needed quiet in which to make her explanations to Jim.

It was darkish, and cool, under the great banyan tree. The formation of its trunk was curious, spreading from quite low down into a whole series of twisted and grotesque branches.

"Like human arms, writing and grabbing," Jim said, looking upward.

She thought: Grabbing? Is that a crack at Hank and me?

She said: "Listen, please, Jim. The true facts of what happened tonight are these.... Hank suggested to me that I be his mascot at Table Number Three, telling me that, if he won, I'd get half of his winnings."

"Yes." Hadn't Lotus Willard told him plainly they were gambling partners, these two?

Ann went on hurriedly: "I want you to know that I never did anything of the sort before!"

Misunderstanding her, he said, nearly but kindly: "I'm sure you didn't."

"I don't mean what you mean—for what I think you're thinking," she floundered on. "What I want you to know is that I didn't see on what number Hank put the money—I mean his chip — and whether or not, as the croupier and detective said, it was the number next to yours."

Jim put his hand on hers. He mistrusted her, but he was sorry for her confusion. "Why, my dear girl, go into all these whys, where-fores, and what-have-yous? Isn't it enough that you were unlucky?"

She drew back. "I don't like the sound of that at all! You believe that Hank and I were really in league in taking winnings that weren't ours?" she demanded fiercely.

"Did I say such a thing?" he countered.

"No. But I've got to convince you that I was only a spectator.... and not even that," she said desperately. "Because of the crowd round the table, I didn't see anything at all!"

"Like the famous monkeys!" he grinned. "See-nothing! Hear-nothing! Say-nothing! That's a swell motto in this resort, isn't it, Ann?"

"You're being evasive, and difficult!" she told him.

"I—evasive?" In a shaft of moonlight through the gently moving banyan leaves, she could see his eyes widen. "Never! Try me and see! If I were evasive, would I have come out in the garden with you? Don't you realize how tempting you are, Ann? But of course you do!"

She jumped up from the stone bench, furious at his insinuation that she had lured him into the garden to make love to her!

"You're being purposely horrid!" In the clear moonlight she was lovely in her indignation. "My real reason in asking you to come out here was to explain—"

"And you've done it very nicely, so please forget about it." He, too, had risen and was facing her.

He looked strikingly handsome in the clear light, and he seemed to be sincere. She wanted to believe that, feeling his attraction—and it didn't seem so silly, on this gorgeous evening, to harp on an unfortunate incident. So her anger melted.

"And now?" His question hung in mid-air. But he looked towards the lights of the casino. In another moment he would be suggesting their return. And her opportunity to re-establish the lovely thing that had sprung into being between them at the Bellevue, and on the ride here, would be gone, maybe forever.

"I'm crazy about this beautiful garden," she said quickly, "it's so deep and fragrant. Let's explore it farther."

"Right." He took her by the arm. It was as though molten fire were racing through that point of contact, lighting a delicious flame in her.

As they walked, she stole a glance at his clean-cut profile that looked as if chiseled out of bronze. As he turned his head towards her, and down, and she saw his tight-lipped, fascinating mouth parted in a smile that lit his whole face up, making it twice as handsome, she thought it would be wonderful to be kissed by him.

She said nervously: "The flowers are so lovely down here! After the rains, the whole earth seems to come alive. You can feel all these wonderful plants and bushes growing and flowering, thrusting their roots upward."

"Yes," he agreed. "There's a touch of ruthlessness about it, to my mind. Like a certain type of beautiful woman, over-running everything. Greedy and predatory."

"You said something like that under the banyan tree." She felt checkmated now. "Don't men grab and steal and over-reach themselves? Don't male crooks infinitely outnumber the female scalliwags?"

Jim chuckled: "That's because women don't have the same opportunities as men!"

"Cynic!" chided Ann.

"No!"

"Then you're at heart afraid of women?" she challenged him.

He laughed outright: "Maybe I am. I haven't had anything like the experience you seem to credit me with, though."

"I credit you with nothing," she flashed, "but you are difficult to talk to, hard to understand, because always there are undercurrents just beneath the surface."

"Granted," he replied. "Surely we're all entitled to our thoughts?"

"But your imagination goes too far."

"Perhaps it does, Miss Mind-Reader!" And he laughed again.

Mary Charlton Is Married In Church Parsonage Rites

Miss Mary Marie Charlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Charlton of E. Seventh st., became the bride of William Austin Snedeker of Geneseo, Ill., at 5 o'clock last evening at the First Baptist church parsonage, with Rev. S. Talmage Magann officiating.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hoopes, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride was lovely in a shell pink street frock with white accessories and a corsage of white roses, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Hoopes was attired in luggage tan with blue accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Hoopes residence on Newgarden ave. for members of the family. Buffet refreshments were served at the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with the miniature bride and groom. The other tables and the house throughout was decorated with American Beauty roses.

FINANCE MEASURE BEFORE CONGRESS

Needs of 18 War Agencies
Shown In $2,939,441,504
Appropriation Request

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—A $2,939,441,504 omnibus appropriations bill, bundling up the fiscal needs of 18 government war agencies, was turned over to Congress today as the nation's economic war chiefs told an epic story of American progress in the battle of the home front.

It was the first annual report, the balance sheet for the past year and the budget sheet for the next for such war-born bureaus as the Office of Price Administration (OPA), the War Production Administration (WPA), censorship, the Office of War Information (OWI), and the War Shipping Administration (WSA).

Spread over 2,100 printed pages of testimony were the explanations of top officials in charge of directing the country's economic life, from war production to consumer prices. There was praise and criticism from the house appropriations committee which approved their 1944 allocations with these words:

"Great credit is due the war agencies for what has been accomplished. Mistakes have been made and will be made. They are to be expected. There has been lost motion. The speed of action would not have been attained without it. Improvements have been made and will continue to be made in the functioning of the war agencies. Constructive criticism has been helpful. It should continue and will be welcomed by the agencies. The type of criticism which serves only to create public distrust is not helpful to the war effort."

Part of that criticism was reflected in the accompanying appropriations bill. Few of the agencies escaped reductions as the committee inquired into such details as the need for expanding staffs, why the OPA's renting division should have used 80 tons of carbon paper.

Mrs. Lowell W. Shallenberg and daughter Judith left this morning for Ann Arbor, Mich. Lieut. Shallenberg has been transferred from the naval academy, Annapolis, Md., to the University of Michigan where he will instruct in the naval architecture curriculum being given for naval constructors.

1,000 Ohio Taverns Close Due To War

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, June 16.—Wartime conditions caused more than 1,000 Ohioans to give up tavern keepers' licenses during the first four months of 1943, liquor department records showed today.

Renewals of the eight most popular types of beer and liquor permits dropped to 9,212 during the January to May period, a decline of 1,093 from the total for the same period last year. This cost the state 182,700 in license fees, James W. Blair, department permit chief, disclosed.

State Liquor Director Don Fisher said many of 783 tavern keepers who failed to obtain licenses to sell 3.2 or beer of higher alcoholic content were located in outlying districts and were forced out of business by gasoline and tire rationing. Blair said others failing to renew licenses included marginal operators whose business was not sufficient to withstand increased labor costs and decreased liquor supplies which cut sales.

Others gave up their businesses because they were inducted into the armed forces, he added.

which was started several weeks ago. The final asphalt topping was not applied until Monday so the base and secondary surface would set properly.

Council approved Councilman Harry Vincent's motion to continue the enforcement of the emergency no-parking ban on the newly-improved section for three more weeks at least, to help the new pavement.

Approval also was voted to Vincent's and Wentz' motion authorizing the additional appropriation of $130 for the purchase of a new floor covering for the firemen's sleeping quarters at city hall. The present linoleum surface is threadbare, Vincent said.

Rheutan reported to council the request of N. Lundy ave. residents between Third and Fourth streets to have parking permitted on the east side of the street, rather than on the west side. The request was referred to the safety committee.

A request was received from a taxi-cab owner for the designation of a one-car parking stall on E. State st., near Penn ave. This also was referred to the safety committee.

A second reading was given to an ordinance employing a chief operator for the police department's short-wave radio station at a monthly wage of $15.

PHOTOGRAPHIC RECORD OF SALEM'S SERVICE MEN

The American Legion plans a permanent record of Salem's men in the service in World War 2. Every Salem city and R. D. family is asked to submit photos of their men now with the armed forces, photos preferably 3 by 5 inches, although other sizes will be acceptable if the preferred size is not available.

Please leave these photos with Arthur S. Johnson, Legion committeeman, Ohio State Employment office, 616 E. State st., with accompanying information, as follows:—

FATHER SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY

YOUNGSTOWN, June 16.—Theodore Williams, Sr., 35, was sentenced to one to two years in Ohio penitentiary today on a first degree manslaughter indictment in the deaths of two children who were suffocated while fire broke out in a room in which they had been locked while the parents were at a downtown theater. Mrs. Williams, 28, the mother, was placed on probation.

The two pleaded guilty in common pleas court. Police charged that the couple locked three sons in a bedroom and two small children, a boy and a girl, in a small clothes closet the night of April 29. One of the boys started a fire which swept the bedroom, bringing death to himself and a brother before a neighbor smelled smoke and entered the apartment to investigate.

LISBON BRIEFS

LISBON, June 16.—Members of the Kiwanis club will be banqueted on Thursday evening at the E. F. Judge cottage at Gullford lake, the dinner to be served at 6:30 by members of the losing teams in an attendance contest.

The contest was inaugurated several months ago with about 12 members of the organization lined up on four sides. Rev. Alfred Heinrich, pastor of St. George Catholic church, will be the speaker of the evening.

Four Are Indicted In Lottery Probe

YOUNGSTOWN, June 16.—Four men, identified by state officials as leaders of four lottery syndicates here, were indicted today in the second partial report returned by a special state grand jury probing vice and racket in Mahoning county.

Warrants were issued immediately for the men and deputies were called to serve them.

The indictments contain 58 counts with some of the leaders facing almost a score of charges of being operators and owners of a lottery business on certain days in recent months.

All indictments involve misdemeanors which carry maximum sentences of three months imprisonment and fines of $500 on each count.

weather, — plating with lacquer, copper, cadmium, nickel, chrome, zinc, silver, lead—dipping in dichromate, sealing with plastics. A vast cycle of experiments were tried and tested and the results compared. From all this effort

THE U.S. ARMY Ordnance Department, early in 1942, asked one of our executives if we had a factory near a good supply of water, of sufficient size to make small calibre ammunition at the rate of many millions every twenty-four hours. We had such a factory on the Ohio River with enough feet of floor space.

It was well placed near additional unused land and far enough from the city to allow the storage of powder and the loading and testing of ammunition.

The work of preparation was started immediately. The automobile machinery in the plant, which could not be used, was dismantled and put elsewhere. It was replaced by new and different equipment. A specialized laboratory was installed and staffed with engineers, metallurgists, and technicians drawn from our widely diversified staff. Production executives and specialists were also selected from our own personnel. While the factory was being prepared for production, the Frankford arsenal assisted the training of these production specialists who, in turn, were to train the workers and supervise the operation of the many departments of the plant.

The first finished ammunition produced in this newly organized plant went on test in May, 1942. The cartridge cases were then made of brass. Brass is an extremely vital war material. Could steel be used instead? Could steel be worked over the machinery and tools that were provided for the use of brass? Could the steel be treated to withstand the corrosion of a long sea voyage and to resist successfully the humidity of the tropics and the sub-zero temperatures of the Arctic? The U. S. Army Ordnance Department—and our own engineers, metallurgists and technicians believed it could. More engineering talent—this time chemists—were added to the laboratory staff and the larger and more complete Chrysler Corporation's laboratories, in Detroit, were also directed to the solution of this problem.

The first of the new steel casings were made in the month of August, 1942. They were pretty good. Then began severe testing,—spraying with wet salt air, burying in salty mud marshes washed by the tide,—storing in hot damp rooms and open exposure to the came a standardized product made of steel, and approved for use on all the battle fronts.

The making of this ammunition is really the art of producing many pieces rapidly—many thousands per minute, every day, 6 days a week. Ninety-nine operations are performed to take each piece of ammunition from the lead, steel and powder stage to the formed, loaded, tested and packed, finished article—ready to shoot,—with every piece perfect in shape, finish, and firing efficiency.

We have made our first billion of this steel ammunition. Not that this is a top record for ammunition making but, to us, it is a milestone passed on the road to Victory. We will pass the second and third billion with much less emotion but we really got a thrill out of joining the ranks of the important producers of ammunition.

With this change to steel we release, with every billion rounds, thousands of tons of brass. This brass can now be used in war production where no other substitute is possible.

A finished round of ammunition weighs only a few ounces. Little things often do become really big and important.

ALLIES PUSH AIR ATTACK

Tons of Bombs Dropped On Airfields, Other Targets In Mediterranean

(By Associated Press)
AN ADVANCED ALLIED BASE IN NORTH AFRICA, June 16.—Huge Allied air forces, taking up after a two-day rest the task of destroying enemy air power in the Mediterranean, covered five airfields and other military targets in Sicily with hundreds of tons of bombs in a round-the-clock offensive begun Monday night and continued through yesterday.

The enemy lost 16 planes in combat, compared with seven for the Allies.

A large number of the RAF's Wellingtons, which regularly pack bombusters in their bomb bays, flying fortresses, marauders and Mitchell's, escorted by flying triggermen of the warhawks and lightnings, played a tattoo of destruction on the airfields of Sciacca, Bocca Di Falco near Palermo, Castelvetro, Borizzo and Milo and two radio stations near Marsala.

Wrecked on Ground
In dogfights which attended the fierce rushes of the Allied air forces, 11 planes of the enemy were shot down and at least 12 more damaged in the air, and scores were damaged on the ground.

Four more enemy aircraft were shot down by coastal command beaueighters in a sweep over the Mediterranean Monday night.

It also was officially reported that more than 80 enemy aircraft were found on the wrecked airfield at Pantelleria when the island was captured.

Wellingtons began the Monday night raiding with attacks on Sciacca, Milo, Bocca Di Falco and Castelvetro, dropping incendiaries as well as high explosives. They met heavy flak over every target.

The combined American and RAF operations were described as "the best job of Allied bombing I have ever seen," by Capt. Thomas C. Griffin of Chicago, a veteran navigator.

The deadly pattern bombing left crater-filled runways at every point. At Sciacca on the southwestern coast, direct hits were scored among airport buildings, barracks and planes, and two big explosions were seen.

New Shortstop, "Given Away," Revives Philadelphia Phils

Dodgers, Themselves Short Of Infield Players, Owned Brewster Short Time Ago

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

This is a little baseball laugh that wanders around the major and minor leagues like the chocolate streak in a marble cake and winds up with a very red face for Branch Rickey, the old smoothie of the ivory markets, as well as a shot in the arm for the Phils.

It's about the Phils' new shortstop, Charley Brewster, who speeds up the infield like high octane gas. And it fits into the diamond picture today because the good burghers of Philadelphia are still dancing in the streets over yesterday's astonishing antics, which saw the Phils and the Athletics each win both ends of a doubleheader on the same afternoon.

Some finger fibert came up with the discovery that it's only eight years since this happened before. But one fan insists he can't recall the occasion.

Baseball men tell you Brewster is the guy who is making the Phils run like a 16-cylinder job again. Just when it began to look as if they were the same old jalopy. Anyway, they've won five of six starts since he parked his size 12's in the infield. And what makes it particularly funny is that less than seven months ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers owned Georgia Charley.

Rickey practically gave him away—and now the Bums need a shortstop. It was so bad yesterday, in fact, that Ernie Lombardi, baseball's original gluefoot, even beat out a hit to short, as the New York Giants jolted the fading Flatbushers, 6-5. This setback sank the Brooklyn three full games out of first place in the National league, since the St. Louis Cardinals belted the Cincinnati Reds 3-1 on Harry Gumbert's two-hit hurling.

The Phils got Brewster, along with Coaker Triplett, in the three-way deal that was supposed to make a "chump" out of Owner Bill G. Up to then Charley had been moving around so fast his laundry didn't have a chance to catch up with him.

Landis Ruled On Deal

At Nashville last year, the folks said he really had the makings, so Rickey brought him up. But brainy Branch sent him to Milwaukee with a bundle of cash—estimated at $15,000—for Hal Peck, the two-toed outfielder. The Brewsters got him just ten minutes before the draft meeting last December, and the Reds drafted him right then. The Brewsters squawked—but Commissioner Landis said the deal "stuck," and Charley'd been with two clubs in ten minutes.

A few weeks ago, Cox traded Danny Litwhiler, who was doing the Phils no good, and Earl Naylor to the Cards for Triplett, Buster Adams and Dain Clay. The Reds, full up with shortstops and always looking for a fly-chaser, sent Brewster to the Phils for Clay. He's made just one error in six games and has zipped up the infield until you'd hardly recognize it. And Triplett has earned his coffee and cakes with two homers in the same half dozen games. One of them, hooked up with a triple, gave the Phils a 6-4 decision over Boston in their opener yesterday. Ronny Northey hit for the jackpot once in each game and the Phils took the nightcap 2-1 which boosted them into fifth place in the league.

Meantime, making it Philadelphia's biggest day since Billy Penn got together with the Indians, the A's socked the Red Sox 7-4 and 4-2, with Dick Siebert sending in four runs in the opener and eighth frame of a night game. In the other after-dark outing—Detroit and Cleveland were rained out—the St. Louis Browns belted the Chicago White Sox 5-2 as the American league battling leader, Vern Stephens, collected a homer and a single. Incidentally, the National league hitting race was taken over by Harry Walker of the Cards, who connected safely in his 22nd straight game.

Truett Sewell served up a steady nine-hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

NEW YORK—Ace Adams, the New York Giants' reliable relief hurler, is being touted as the "fireman" likely to break his own National League record by appearing in more than 61 games this year. Some baseball observers predict that Adams will participate in 90 games this year if he continues at his current clip.

NEW YORK—Dixie Walker, the "people's choice" in Brooklyn, has been the Flatbush favorite since his debut at Ebbets Field in 1939, when he was mobbed halfway to the dugout after hitting a game-winning hit in the 10th inning against the Boston Braves.

NEW YORK—Arky Vaughan, Brooklyn shortstop, was a Southern California scholastic sprint champion in his school days.

Scotts Blank Furnaces 2 to 0; Recreations Lose To Bliss, 5-1

The Electric Furnaces were shut out 2 to 0 last night by Scotts in a game at Centennial park. Tomorrow night the Scotts face Demings.

Langney and Courtney each allowed two hits in last night's duel, but the Scotts managed to make theirs tell in the early part of the game. One run was scored in the first and another in the second. The Furnaces were charged with two errors, Scotts, one.

In the other Class A league fray last evening, Bliss teammates pounded the Recreation pitcher, Philis, for 12 hits to win the encounter 5 to 1. The Recreation managed to get three hits, scoring their lone tally in the first inning.

In the Class B league, the friends won on a forfeit over the Slovaks. Paxons won in a like manner over the Presbyterians. Summaries:

PACIFIC FOOTBALL LEAGUES DIVIDED INTO TWO GROUPS

War-Time Travel Restrictions Responsible; Stanford May Not Play

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—The Pacific Coast conference 10-member football circuit was split in two sections today because of war-time travel restrictions, with the possibility that Stanford university, long-time strong member, might not even have a team.

And the fate of the annual New Year's Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena admittedly hinges on whether the season will be carried to a successful conclusion.

Conference representatives, adopting what was described as "the only solution," at their meeting last night approved the split schedule to reduce the travel of football teams to a minimum.

A semi-round robin series will be played between the four southern members of the conference, Stanford, California, Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles.

The winner will meet the winner of the northern section for the conference title. The northern group includes the universities of Washington and Oregon, Washington State college and Oregon State college, and the Universities of Idaho and Montana.

But, unless army regulations are relaxed, Graduate Manager Alfred R. Masters of Stanford said it was possible his school would not field a football squad. Stanford felt it could carry on if reservists were allowed to participate in the sport, but such action has been opposed by army heads for players in the schools in which it has established training centers.

AMES, Ia.—Chief specialist Joseph J. Toif, physical instructor at the Iowa State College Naval Training Schools and a former football and basketball star at Indiana, has been transferred to Bainbridge, Md., for specialized training in the Navy's V-12 program.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 16.—A race that might have been one of the super-specials of the winter indoor track season is likely to pass almost unnoticed Saturday.... It's a 1,500-meter tussle between Parson Gil Dadds and Dartmouth's Don Burnham, who ran in all the important indoor miles.... It was scheduled for Saturday, along with the junior championships, because Dadds won't run on Sunday and the A. A. U. wanted to provide some opposition in case Gunder Haegg chose to run the 1500.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Carl Bell, Fort Smith (Ark.) Southwest American: "As the days go by without definite word from the Brooklyn front office, we're wondering if the Dodgers' proposed baseball school here this summer isn't going to turn out to be a Bum deal."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Carl Voyles, William and Mary grid coach, favors trying to play football as long as he can keep a team together, but he says he definitely won't play any high schools.... Carl remembers one Virginia college team that took on a prep outfit during World War one and still is trying to live down the licking it received.

WEEK'S WORST GAG

From George Mahoukian, Hamden, Conn.: "The Boston Red Sox have a new twist to that oft-used baseball expression—that is, 'swinging like a Barna-Doer'."

MADISON, Wis.—Total receipts of the University of Wisconsin athletic department for the 1942-43 school year amounted to $255,393.81, according to the athletic board's annual report.

Named Track Captain

NEW YORK—Pvt. Irving Kintisch, former New York university athlete now stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., has been elected captain of NYU's 1944 outdoor track squad in absentia.

He was elected because his teammates felt that he "was well deserving of the honor even if he cannot actually serve."

Vander Meer Awaits Mound Call Today

(By Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—Five years and a day after he hurled the second of the consecutive no-hit games that skyrocketed him into baseball's hall of fame, Johnny Vander Meer, older, wiser, married and a prospective naval officer, awaited today a call to try to narrow the seven-game gap separating the Cincinnati Reds from the St. Louis Cardinals.

In the midst of a rather rocky season, with five victories credited to him and as many defeats charged against him, Vander Meer will face the Cardinals' young mound ace, Howard Pollet, in a night game. Pollet, also winner of five games, has lost but one this year.

St. Louis stretched its lead over the third-place Reds to seven games yesterday with the aid of mistakes by Manager McKechnie's hurlers. Rightfielder Max Marshall's misjudgment of a line drive in the sixth inning enabled the Cards to tie the score at 1-1 and to clinch a victory in the seventh despite a four-hit performance by Bucky Walters who, until Walker Cooper's game-winning two-run single, pitched himself out of trouble repeatedly. Even so he did not match the two-hit masterpiece turned in by Harry Gumbert.

The Reds actually touched Gumbert for three hits but Eddie Miller, after hitting safely to left, neglected to tag first as he sped to second when Deb Garmus fumbled the ball and the single was erased when Garmus whipped the ball to First Baseman Sanders for the putout.

DR. JESSE SWANK TAKEN BY DEATH

Services for M. E. Churchman Planned Friday At Springfield

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, June 16.—Funeral services for Dr. Jesse Swank, for more than half a century an outstanding Methodist churchman, will be held Friday at Springfield.

Dr. Swank, president emeritus of the board of the Methodist Children's home at Worthington and a pastor at Westerville, died last night in White Cross hospital after a month's illness with a carbuncle. He was 76.

The Rev. H. Lester Smith, presiding bishop of the Methodist church in Ohio, will officiate at services for the pastor who during 53 years in the ministry served 10 pulpits and admitted 5,500 into the church.

Ordained in 1890, Dr. Swank held pastorates successfully at Gettysburg, Zanesville, West Liberty, Napoleon, Bellefontaine, Van Wert, Marion, Dayton, Springfield and Westerville.

He officiated at the funerals of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding while at Marion and was chairman of the Cincinnati area of the Ohio Methodist conference after the death of Bishop Theodore Henderson.

Native of Ohio Born on a farm near Quincy, O., July 12, 1867, Dr. Swank attended the Baptist church before being converted to the Methodist faith while attending a revival at the age of 15.

He taught school for a short time, then began selling religious books. He received a call to the ministry while selling books to a Methodist pastor in a church at Bellefontaine, he told his friends.

In addition to his pastoral work Dr. Swank attended numerous state and national church conferences as a delegate, was a trustee of the Dayton district and was a member of numerous church boards and committees. He retired in 1940 but returned to the active ministry a few months ago when the pastor at Westerville entered the armed services as chaplain.

Dr. Arba Martin of Portsmouth will deliver the sermon during services in the Central Methodist church at Springfield at 2:30 p. m. Friday. He will be assisted by Charles E. Turley of Newark, Dr. Charles M. Coulter of Columbus and Dr. W. H. Fowler of Springfield.

Dr. Coulter and Rev. Homer Baumgardner, superintendent of the Springfield Methodist district, will be in charge of private services for the family.

Burial will be in Marion. Dr. Swank's widow, Mrs. Jessie Brown Swank, and one son, Paul, a member of the Columbus staff of The Associated Press, survive.

Services at the cemetery in Marion will be in charge of Dr. S. M. Ingmire of Marion.

CONGRESS DARTS AIMED AT DAVIS

OWI Chieftain Accused of Seeking To Be "Propaganda" Minister

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A storm of congressional criticism whirled today around Elmer Davis, chief of the Office of War Information, accused by one legislator of seeking to be a "propaganda minister."

Another lawmaker said Davis ought to be investigated.

The outcry, not the first aimed at Davis since he relinquished a radio broadcasting job to take the OWI helm, arose over a speech in Boston in which Davis said Washington news coverage was inadequate.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) told the senate yesterday that Davis was "trying to silence the press to cover the sins of mal-administration on the part of the New Deal in the war effort." He said the newspaper reporters in Washington were to be "commended, not criticized, for their outstanding effort.... their masterful accomplishment of a difficult task."

Bridges said Davis was objecting, perhaps, because "they have uncovered some news about Washington which does not look too well outside of Washington."

Davis, addressing the American Newspaper guild, declared that capital newsmen were overlooking the big story of the war—production—while paying attention to inter-department bickerings. To this Bridges retorted:

"Nowhere can be found a more loyal group of American citizens than the men and women who today report the news of this nation for the great wire services and the many newspapers."

Bridges said OWI has "prevented industry from telling the full story of production, just as it has prevented the truth from being told in Washington when the people had the right to know the truth." He said "OWI, its policies and its personnel should be thoroughly investigated."

Rep. Short (R-Mo) told the house yesterday that it seemed to him "Davis now conceives his real title to be that of American propaganda minister."

In defense of Davis, Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) said propaganda had become a necessary part of war.

13 Persons Hurt When Plant Roof Collapses

YOUNGSTOWN, June 16.—Thirteen persons were injured, none seriously, last night when a portion of the roof of the Commercial Shearing and Stamping Co., collapsed during a rain and electrical storm. Police said the weight of the falling rain caused the roof to give way.

PLANS CLEANUP OF "OPA MESS"

Brown, Back From Vacation, To Be Quizzed By Congress On Food

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 16.—Price Administrator Prentiss Brown, returning from a 10-day vacation, set out today to clean up what he called "the mess people think OPA is in" and Congress seized on the opportunity to quiz him about the food problem.

Brown, back from a Michigan holiday where he pondered on the problems of the Office of Price Administration, indicated he had reached some positive conclusions.

He had a chance to unload his ideas before the senate banking committee which wanted to know explicitly how far Brown intends to go on his subsidy program.

For the second time in a week, President Roosevelt backed up the OPA chief's plan for aiding producers financially so consumer prices could be rolled back, and challenged congressional critics yesterday to find a better plan. A similar reception was given to a joint senate-house committee earlier by James F. Byrnes, War Mobilization director, "obviously speaking for the President."

Miners Pay Discussed Senator Taft (R-Ohio) summed up the attitude of congressional foes of the subsidy program. He said he wanted to know first of all how much Brown wanted for the subsidy program, and then if he would submit it to congress for approval.

Another home front problem apparently approached a climax as the war labor board indicated it would have a decision late today or tomorrow on the amount of underground travel pay the coal miners should receive. This is the hub of the whole coal controversy.

The War department and the office of war information chipped in to add an international flavor to the capital's concerns.

Disclosure that the Axis was losing six planes to the U. S. air force's one four-engine bomber in recent raids over Europe was made by the War department.

Congressional criticism swirled around Elmer Davis, chief of the OWI, for his speech to the American Newspaper guild at Boston, in which he said Washington newsmen were ignoring the big story of the war—production—while playing up inter-department squabbles.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said Davis ought to be investigated. Rep. Short (D-Mo) declared the OWI chief was seeking to set himself up as "another propaganda minister."

Mayor's Report Shown Mayor R. R. Johnson's collections for May totaled $511.70, his monthly report showed today. This included: City fines, $271; city costs, $95.20; state patrol fines, $122; licenses, $17; building permits, $6.

Change Rehearsal Hour The Junior choir of the First Baptist church will rehearse at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at the church instead of 4:15, the usual time.

Chapter Election Salem chapter, R. A. M., will elect officers at its meeting Thursday evening in the Masonic temple.

CONSIDER MERGER CHICAGO June 16.—National football league owners, at their special meeting here Saturday and Sunday, will consider a merger application offered by the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles.

Commissioner Elmer Layden acknowledged receipt of the petition from the two clubs today, which if accepted would reduce the former 10-club circuit to eight members, provided no others drop out this weekend. The Cleveland Rams bowed out "for the duration" at the pro league's April meeting.

Assured Fuel Oil CLEVELAND, June 16.—Persons who use fuel oil to heat their homes had assurance from the Office of Price Administration today that ample supplies will be available before winter. OPA Fuel Rationing Director Joel Dean told 150 petroleum industry representatives meeting here yesterday that sufficient oil to match ration coupons would be delivered to cities and dealers.

Quota Hears Reports A report of the recent district meeting of Quota club presidents in Cleveland was presented by Mrs. Helen Brumbaugh at the dinner meeting of Salem club last night at the Memorial building.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rinie Wark and Mrs. Brumbaugh. Tables were decorated with garden flowers.

Mrs. Wark and Mrs. Brumbaugh will serve as hostesses for the meeting June 29. Miss Ella Stamp is program chairman.

Blossoms Second Time With all the recent rainy weather, the pear tree in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. John Niederhiser's home on Morris st., has the seasons slightly reversed and is blooming now for the second time this year.

The new blooms are beside the half grown pears that resulted from the earlier blossoms.

Engineering and War Colin Doyle discussed engineering in relation to the war effort in his talk, "Our Part in the War Effort" at the noon meeting of the Rotary club at the Memorial building yesterday. The speaker outlined the importance of engineering in the production of necessary defense materials.

Hobart Butcher was program chairman.

Lions Hear Officer Entrance qualifications, training and opportunities for service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps were outlined for Lions club members at a dinner meeting at the Lape hotel last night by Lieut. Jean Craig of Youngstown, recruiting officer for this district.

William Rae was in charge of the program.

Auxiliary Police Praised City officials today joined regular police department personnel in praising members of the Civilian Police for the efficient manner in which they handled traffic details in the business district during the city's flag day parade Monday night.

Mayor's Report Shown Mayor R. R. Johnson's collections for May totaled $511.70, his monthly report showed today. This included: City fines, $271; city costs, $95.20; state patrol fines, $122; licenses, $17; building permits, $6.

RABAU RAID CAUSES FIRES

Blazes Seen 60 Miles Away After Allies Blast Japanese Airdrome

(By Associated Press) ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 16.—Fires which could be seen 60 miles away and a series of violent explosions were started among Japanese planes on Lakunai airdrome, Rabaul, New Britain, yesterday by 23 tons of Allied bombs.

Increasing to 135 tons the bomb weight to fall on Rabaul's airfields during four raids made within six days, 19 Liberators joined in the latest attack and all got home safely after weathering intense anti-aircraft fire and the weak opposition of seven enemy night fighters.

(Rabaul, on the extreme northern tip of New Britain, is second only to Truk as both an air and shipping base of the enemy. Recently Charles H. McMurry, Associated Press war correspondent at Honiara, wrote concerning possible military strategy in the Southwest Pacific that Rabaul might well become the next Allied major objective, pointing out that its seizure would bypass Japanese holdings between it and Allied-held Guadalcanal in the Solomons.)

For two hours, beginning shortly before midnight June 14, the Liberators kept their bomb bays open over Lakunai. Later, Allied fliers on reconnaissance over the field in daylight hours reported all planes crowded into the runways. This was taken as an indication that the latest raid dealt extensive damage. The reconnaissance fliers counted 254 Japanese aircraft on three Rabaul airdromes but whether they were all in working order was another matter.
